

Feeling adventurous and want to make a difference this summer? Otesha seeks participants for East Coast cycle tour to empower youth on sustainability!

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The Otesha Project (Australia): Cycling for Sustainability's is currently seeking 20 empassioned people to participate in the next eight-week cycle tour: Melbourne to Sydney (February 14 - April 9, 2010).

Since 2000, The Otesha Project (Aus.) has pedalled across Australia educating youth and raising awareness about environmental sustainability and social justice issues. Otesha is a Swahili word for 'reason to dream' and is the underlining philosophy of the organisation. The Otesha crew combines theatre performance with interactive workshops to empower high school students to consider their life choices to create a positive future.

Current consumption behaviours in Australia have far reaching consequences that are both unsustainable and inequitable. The negative impacts of these practices usually affect the most disempowered people in society, including young people who now face an uncertain future.

For Angela Jones- co-director- 'Otesha is about empowering youth; those that participate in our programs (including cycle tours) and those that experience our presentation. It is about encouraging young people to make a difference wherever they can in their lives.'

Otesha (Aust.) is seeking people from all walks of life - people with varying experiences, backgrounds and interests. Otesha is unique in that each tour member gets the opportunity to organise a region of the tour; learning skills to become strong advocates for living sustainably, develop skills in media communication, leadership, performance whilst living as an on-road sustainable community.

The application deadline for tour members for the Melbourne to Sydney tour is 18 September, 2009. For information about applying visit the Otesha (Aust.) website at www.otesha.org.au/biketours/apply.
